

Geographic Information Division

Public Notice – GIS Resources and Services Policy Statement

Resources & Services Disclaimer

Spatial information and data are illustrations of the real world and are subject to varying levels of representative accuracy and display as determined by the anticipated use and or purpose of the product. The City of Pueblo, Colorado reserves the right to modify, change, and or discontinue information, resources, and or services without notice. End-user or users is or are solely responsible and liable for determining the appropriateness of resources or services for any such use or uses and shall indemnify and hold harmless the City of Pueblo, Colorado, its staff, offices, and or approved vendors of claims arising from use of said resources or services. The resources or services available herein do not substitute for consultation with the City of Pueblo, Colorado. End-user or users of these resources or services are solely responsible for meeting and following any and all applicable City ordinances, municipal codes, regulations, and processes for application signatures or sign-offs and or other authorization as permissible by statute and or departmental policy. Third party and or commercial access, distribution and or redistribution, and or sale of resources or services is strictly prohibited without the expressed written permission of the City of Pueblo, Colorado. The City of Pueblo, Colorado does not guarantee nor provide any warranty, expressed or implied, as to the representative completeness or accuracy of maps and data provided herein.

Third Party & Commercial Use Policy

Commercial use, distribution, and or redistribution of GIS resources and or services in any form is strictly prohibited without the expressed written consent of the City of Pueblo, Colorado, Department of Information Technology, GIS Division. Commercial use, distribution, and or redistribution shall be defined as the act or intent to serve GIS resources and or services beyond the original scope and or purpose of products developed by the City of Pueblo, Colorado for un-official distribution, limited access distribution, and or sale by an individual and or entity, etc. Applicant or applicants for commercial use, distribution, and or redistribution, etc. of GIS resources and or services authored by the City of Pueblo, Colorado shall indemnify and hold harmless the City of Pueblo, Colorado, its staff, offices, and or approved vendors of claims arising from use of said resources or services and or may or may not be subject to criminal and or civil liability to the full extent that the law provides. Commercial use of GIS resources or services are subject to formal review, additional policies, authorization, and may or may not be subject to fee as permissible by the City of Pueblo, Colorado. For more information on third party and commercial use of GIS resources or services please contact the City of Pueblo, Colorado, Department of Information Technology, GIS Division by telephone at (719) 553-2555, electronic mail at citymaps@pueblo.us, or in writing addressed to City of Pueblo, Colorado. Department of Information Technology. GIS Division. Re: Commercial Use. 200 S. Main St., Pueblo, CO 81003.

Copyright Policy

GIS resources and or services and associated information and or products designed, developed, and maintained are the authored by the City of Pueblo, Colorado, Department of Information Technology, GIS Division and or other City Departments and subject to copyright.